Scholarship Selection Criteria

The scholarship selection process for the El Alto and Stone Temple Mountain Bike Camps is designed to ensure fairness, inclusivity, and support for riders with strong potential. As a component of the initial registration process, applicants submit a brief application and basic riding background, which are reviewed by a panel of the Board of Directors. The panel will evaluate each candidate based on passion for cycling, commitment to personal growth, and financial need. Final decisions prioritize young athletes who demonstrate enthusiasm, resilience, and a desire to develop both their skills and character within the mountain biking community.
